9. Unfinished Business

- A. Public Meeting Video Conferencing – Superintendent Dubinsky

Superintendent Dubinsky explained that various improvements had been made to the audio/video setup in the board room, and that other than the issue with audio from embedded videos the sound quality had improved. He also repeated that Board meetings are for conducting the Board's business, and the Board can decide what audio/video options they want to use for Board meetings in future.

- B. 4-Day Week – Superintendent Dubinsky

Superintendent Dubinsky summarized the process to date undertaken by the Board in exploring the possibility of a 4-day week for the parts of the District that currently have a regular, 5-day week. He noted that there are various considerations brought forth by Trustees, parents, staff and others, including:

- The length of school day.
- The potential difficulties in obtaining and affordability of childcare with fewer in-school days.
- Vulnerable children can need a safehaven or place to go each day and potential social emotional hardship for students or parents.
- Interference with school sports or activities.

A Trustee mentioned that the parents' feedback at the NES PAC meeting was that if there was consideration of all these things, then they might be in favour of a 4-day week. Parents were concerned about the effect a four-day week might have on others but not for themselves. Questions raised by parents included the length of days, bussing, longer bus trips for students coming from afar, like from Burton or Edgewood. However, overall, they would be open to explore a 4-day week.

A Trustee mentioned that parents of high-school students expressed at NSS PAC meeting didn't think they were opposed, but there wasn't any strong feeling or direction one way or another.

A Trustee mentioned they had received a letter from a parent who was concerned about the impact on school sports of a 4-day week.

Superintendent Dubinsky stated that any consideration of a 4-day week would be for the 2024-2025 school year, and that District staff are happy to receive any direction from the Board to obtain further information or perform consultation.

A Trustee expressed a concern about the quantity of consultation currently going on. Superintendent Dubinsky noted that calendar would be submitted next March (2024) so there is time to consult before then. Any decision would have to be made prior to that time, for consideration for 2024-2025 year.

Two Trustees mentioned that consideration of a 4-Day week should be considered as a potential tool to achieve the goals of the strategic plan. That it could be an initiative taken based on the consultation done for the strategic plan, with a possible separate consultation could be done later about specific.

The Board agreed to defer further discussion until a later meeting following the adoption of the strategic plan.

10. New Business

- A. 2023-2024 School Calendar Notice – Superintendent Dubinsky

The Superintendent noted that the 2023-2024 draft school calendar has been approved by stakeholders and will be posted on the website to give the opportunity for further feedback. After that, it will be either amended or approved at the March Board meeting.

A Trustee asked if schools will notify parents. First it is published on website, then sent to Principals, who can put in their newsletters.
